Read Aloud: "The Christmas Menorahs: The Town That Fought Hate" written by Dr. Janice Cohn
10am-11am

Age appropriate for students in grades 3-6
Have your students join us as our Goodwin Holocaust Education Center staff members read this wonderful book based on a true incident in Billings, Montana. The book tells what happened when the town was being terrorized by hate crimes against minorities and how the community took action. Our staff members will engage the students' questions about bullying and speaking up when they see something wrong going on around them. (A copy of the book and a teacher's guide will be provided upon registration.)

How Teens Can Make a Difference
10am – 11am

As Martin Luther King Day approaches, have your students join in conversation with a panel of local teens who have made a difference in their schools and in their communities. When we teach students about the Holocaust, we ask them to become an "upstander." Let's have our students talk about how they have already started to do that and give them suggestions for new ways for them to make a difference in the lives of others.

Also learn about the Josiah DuBois Scholarship offered by the GHMEC to students in honor of Josiah DuBois, a former NJ resident whose actions are credited with helping to save hundreds of thousands of lives during the Holocaust.

Friday, January 25, 2013
Meet a Holocaust Survivor, a Concentration Camp Liberator, and the child of a Survivor
10am-11am
Age appropriate for students in grades 6-12

The United Nations has designated January 27th as the International Day of Commemoration of the Holocaust. Have your students join in a conversation with these eyewitnesses to history and get the insight of those whose lives have been changed forever because of the Holocaust, as well as students from 4 other schools.

Genocide in Today's World
10am-11am

Meet Dr. Jerry Ehrlich, who volunteered as a physician for "Doctors Without Borders" in Darfur, and discuss issues about Darfur and Genocide today.

All students are required to watch the movie, The Devil Came on Horseback, before participating in this videoconference. (The video, which is approximately 80 minutes long and teacher's guide will be provided upon registration.)

Many of the scenes in the movie are graphic, so we recommend this program for students in grades 9-12 only.

Celebrate Dr. Seuss's Birthday with The Goodwin Holocaust Museum and Education Center

9am-10am or 10am – 11am

Age appropriate for students in grades 3-5

Dr. Paul Winkler, the Executive Director of the NJ Commission of Holocaust Education will be reading the book "Sneetches" and leading a conversation on tolerance and understanding. Teaching suggestions for use after this videoconference can be found in The New Jersey Commission on Holocaust Education: Caring Makes a Difference K-4th Grade Curriculum Guide. (If you do not have this available in your school, please let us know.)

Understanding Religions

10am-11am

Age appropriate for students in grades 7-12

When we teach about the Holocaust, we ask students to be tolerant of people with backgrounds different than their own. We give them the opportunity to learn about some of those differences as they join in conversation with students from 4 other schools and leaders from local Jewish, Catholic, and Muslim communities.

Book Talk on Night written by Elie Wiesel

10am-11am

Age appropriate for students in grades 8-12

Night, by Elie Wiesel, focuses on the final year of the Holocaust in Auschwitz, the Nazi death camp. Students will be given the opportunity to discuss and explore different aspects of the Holocaust, suffering and human rights through a series of thought provoking questions, actual interviews with Elie Wiesel, and photographs. This will be facilitated by a leader in Holocaust education. (Upon registration, a variety of materials will be provided for historical context, suggested teaching strategies, and to stimulate classroom discussion.)

All students are required to have completed the reading of the novel, Night, in order to participate in this program.

Wednesday, May 22, 2013
