2010 Women's Gala

Featuring Comedienne...

Comedienne...

As one of the country's top comediennes, Ladman's show is a self-probing, anxiety-venting vehicle, which draws laughter from exposing personal neurosis. She has appeared on "The Tonight Show" nine times, had her own HBO "One Night Stand" comedy special and, in 1992, was awarded the American Comedy Award for Best Female Stand Up Comic as well as numerous television, movie roles and acting in live theatre. Most recently, Cathy was one of the three finalists in Nick at Nite's "Funniest Mom in America."

Cathy's comedy focuses on family, growing up, relationships, and real life from a very personal perspective. The Los Angeles Times put it best "... Ladman has such clever, well-written material and such a breezy, unassuming delivery that it would be easy to overlook just how good she is: Her act seems effortless."
